Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 66, 86, 87, and 91 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 49 and 50 of U.S. Patent No. 6,084,168. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claimed limitations of the present application are met by the limitations of the patented claims.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the claims presented in the present application based on the patent, because the same limitations are provided, wherein the present claims are written more broadly than those of the patent.

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Lukacs (5,657,096) is merely cited to show content of claim 1, wherein claim 1 does not relate to music, wherein it is well known to provide a network of computers which work in synchronization to provide video and composition on a plurality of displays. This is further well known in classroom or lectures in which computers are used to teach individual under the control of a master computer controlled by the instructor.

4. Claims 41-51 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 07/23/2001 have been fully considered and are found to be persuasive.

A new double patenting rejection is written in this action. It is not believed that claim 1 is allowable. Comments are written above and a reference has been cited. It is believed that claim 1 can overcome the prior art by providing the musical elements to the claim.
